

The Golden Rule

Do to others as you would have them do to you (Luke 6:31, NIV).

I was praying for one of those problem people in my life. I was asking God to help me treat her the way He would have me treat her.

He immediately reminded me that I should be treating her the way I want to be treated.

That's something I can understand and remember. In the complex world of human relationships, it's often hard to know how to handle difficult people and situations. But the Golden Rule still works. Simply treat other people the way you want to be treated.

How have others hurt you? How have others helped you? What have you appreciated the most? Use those memories to guide you as you love others.
