

Deep Knowing

Father, in Your great heart
You long for us to know You entirely and completely,
all we are
knowing all You are.

You created this entire universe,
immense and majestic,
not only to show us Yourself, but to engulf us in Your power,
Your wisdom,
Your love, and the vastness of Your mystery.
Yet even as we are immersed in all this, we see only the fringes of Your robe.
We hear only a faint whisper of You. (Job 26:14)

To show Yourself completely,
You gave us Your own Son.
You incarnated Him as the most helpless and humble of all human beings:
the newborn infant of an unmarried peasant girl from a small, oppressed people in one corner of the world.

Here is the transcendent, undiminished God!
Here is the full radiance of Your glory!
Here is the exact representation of Your very nature! (Hebrews 1:3) Here is the fullness of Your Deity in bodily form, and You have made us full and complete in Him. (Colossians 2:9-10)
As we look to Him, we are being changed into His likeness. (2 Corinthians 3:18)

But we do yet see Him for all He is. (1 John 3:2)
With all His many magnificent names,

He has a name, an identity,
that no one knows but Him. (Revelation 19:12)

But we know this:

*when He appears,
we will be like Him,*

because we will see Him just as He is. (1 John 3:2, NASB)

We will know Him fully,

we will know You, Father, even as we are fully known. (1 Corinthians 13:12)

Your deep longing for us will be fulfilled

every moment,
forever,
entirely and completely,
all we are
knowing
all You are.

We will be immersed in You,
one with You,
saturated with

Your presence,
Your holiness,
Your love,
Your life, in all its depth and richness.

Father, finish what You have begun.

We long for You!

We are waiting at the door.

Hymn: Knowing God

© 2017 by Ken Bible, c/o LNWhymns.com