

God's Burning Love

God is love (1 John 4:8).

He is deep,
 complete,
 changeless love.

All He does,
all He says,
all He is
 is love.

His love –
 deeply desiring the very best for all He has made – His power –
 creating, supporting, and ruling all He has made – and His wisdom –
 completely knowing all He has made –
are infinite and inseparable.

His love reaches everywhere
 His power and His knowing go.

He completely knows and completely loves
 all He has made.

His infinite power,
 infinite wisdom, and
 infinite love
are simply different aspects of His all-ness.

There is no indifference in His love –
 never,
 to not even the slightest degree.

No coolness.
 No distance.
 No half-heartedness.
 No distraction.
 No unthinking routine.

His love is a fire
 that blazes eternally,
 white-hot.

But His love never forces itself on any of us.

He whispers.
He woos.
And yes, He sometimes shouts.
But then He always waits.
He never enters without an invitation.
He watches for even the smallest, weakest response, then
patiently,
unhurriedly,
tenderly,
wisely
fans it into flame,
as His creature allows.

Father, I love You!
Help me to love You and know You
more and more.
