

Reflection on Habakkuk 3:16-19

Almighty God,
as I begin to see You for all You are,
I bow here with a quiet spirit and
    a smiling heart,
patiently waiting
    Your will in
    Your time

I begin to trust You
    because I know Your heart, even when I don't fully understand Your actions.

I begin to realize that my joy
is not dependent on
    my circumstance.
I can always be joyful because You are always God,
    always here,
    always the same, and
    always, always, always right and good.

I want my circumstances and this entire world
to be right as well, Lord, and I know they will be.
    You have promised to make them right!
But for now,
I live in
    joy and
    settled peace
as I live and trust in
    You.
