

Reflection on Psalm 52

Too often, the “mighty ones” of earth have a taste for evil.

They parade their pride,
brag about their brutality,
plot wickedness, and
devise deceit.

They love and choose
evil over good,
personal gain over justice.

But their unbelieving hearts ignore the fact that God is truly almighty, ruling all that is, and
He is unfailing love
constantly and
forever.

Those who trust
their money and
themselves
instead of Him
are doomed to destruction.
Opposing the loving God, rejecting the Source of all life, they have chosen their own fate.
Like weeds, they will be
suddenly uprooted,
thrown away, and
burned.

But those who trust God, those rooted in the Eternal One,
will be green and
growing,
flourishing and
forever fruitful
in Him.
